Bartlett Pear Facts:

Anjou pears are available October through June. Good-quality Anjou pears will be medium-sized or larger with no scars or bruises. The coloring will be yellow-green with an occasional red blush. Pears are ripe when they yield to gentle pressure at the stem end. Avoid product with soft spots or scars that are more than skin-deep. Too much yellow means an Anjou pear is over ripe. Product that is extremely hard will ripen best at room temperature.
